BE A BLOODY GOOD VOLUNTEER.

Here at Bloody Good Period, the demand for free sanitary protection for asylum seekers, refugees and those who can't afford them is growing every day, way beyond North London, where we started our little thing.

We're now looking for committed, reliable volunteers who can act as Bloody Good Reps in various areas of London, ensuring that the asylum seeker services receive the pads they so desperately need.

If you've got a couple of evenings free each month and want to make a serious, active difference to the lives of other women, as well as joining a community of likeminded, superlol folks, then this is the role for you. You can apply in pairs or groups, in a couple or on your own - we don't mind!

Please email gabby@bloodygood-period.com with your name(s), amount of time you can give (you can approximate), whether you have a car/van (not essential but pretty bloody helpful) and the area of London in which you would like to help. It could be where you live, where you work, or simply where you'd like to make the biggest difference, as long as it's easily accessible for you. You can offer a few suggestions, but please no more than three.

We plan to make this happen out of London very soon, so please do keep an eye out if you're out of London.

Your responsibilities will be:

- (Co-)Managing the storage locker, opening deliveries and ensuring you have enough pads for each service, per month
- Meeting the service provider (e.g. Project Manager at Asylum Seeker Drop In) every month, to give them their allocated pads, and get feedback on the month before
- Maintaining a friendly and dedicated relationship with the services and the storage facility, escalating matters where necessary

Although Bloody Good is unable to provide any sort of financial reward, you will be invited to dedicated volunteer events (usually pub meet ups...) so it's a great way to make new pals and really make a difference. You'll get stickers too.

All genders are encouraged to apply. You must be over 18 or team up with someone who is.
